In authoritarian parenting style, children are expected to follow the strict rules established by the parents. Failure to follow such rules usually results in punishment. Authoritarian parents fail to explain the reasoning behind these rules. These parents have high demands, but are not responsive to their children. Authoritarian parenting styles generally lead to children who are obedient and proficient, but they rank lower in happiness, social competence and self-esteem. 2. Like authoritarian parents, those with an authoritative parenting style establish rules and guidelines that their children are expected to follow. However, this parenting style is much more democratic. Authoritative parents are responsive to their children and willing to listen to questions. When children fail to meet the expectations, these parents are more nurturing and forgiving rather than punishing. They want their children to be assertive as well as socially responsible, and self-regulated as well as cooperative. Authoritative parenting styles tend to result in children who are happy, capable and successful. 3. Permissive parents, sometimes referred to as indulgent parents, have very few demands to make of their children. These parents rarely discipline their children because they have relatively low expectations of maturity and self-control. Permissive parents are generally nurturing and communicative with their children, often taking on the status of a friend more than that of a parent. Permissive parenting often results in children who rank low in happiness and self-regulation. 1. THE UNITED KINGDOM

1. The United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland consists of four main countries which are: England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland. Their capitals are: London, Edinburgh, Cardiff and Belfast. The UK is an island state, it is composed of some 5500 islands, large and small.

2. The UK is one of the world's smaller countries. It is situated off the northwest coast of Europe between the Atlantic Ocean to the north and the North Sea to the east, and is separated from the continent by the English Channel and the Strait of Dover¹.

3. One can see two animals on British royal coat of arms. One of them is the lion. The King of beasts has been used as a symbol of national strength and of the British monarchy for many centuries. The other one is the unicorn². It is a mythical animal that looks a horse with a long straight horn growing from its forehead, and is a symbol of purity.

4. The formal name of the British national flag is Union Jack. It combines the St. George's cross of England, St. Andrew's cross of Scotland and St. Patrick's cross of Ireland. The United Kingdom or UK is a political term. All of four countries are represented in Parliament and the abbreviation UK is used on most official documents.

5. The class system is very important in Britain. It is created by complex system of accents³, school and family. Social position is often based on the traditions or history of the family, not is money. Many people's class can be identified immediately by the way they speak.

6. Britain is split up into counties. County councils are elected to run things⁴, such as education, housing, town planning, rubbish disposal⁵.

7. Britain is a constitutional monarchy. But the monarch's constitutional role is mainly symbolic.

Пояснения к тексту:

and more difficult for the nation economy to support the increasing number of elderly.

6. Прочитайте и устно переведите на русский язык 1-3 абзацы текста. Перепишите и письменно переведите 1 и 2 абзацы.

2. WHO ARE THE BRITISH

1. Most people are English, Scottish or Welsh, but in some British cities you can meet people of many different nationalities. But is Britain a cosmopolitan society? It really depends on where you go. In 1991 5.5 per cent of the 57 million population described themselves as belonging to an ethnic minority. Most members of ethnic minorities live in the South – East. In Greater London, they represent 20 per cent of the population.

2. People have been coming to Britain for centuries: some to get a better life, some to escape natural disasters, some as political or religious refugees. Many Irish people came to England in 1845 to escape famine¹, but usually they came to find work. Most of the roads, railways and canals built in the nineteenth century were made by Irishworkers.

3. The greatest wave of immigration was in the 1950's and 1960's. This happened not only in Britain but also throughout Western Europe. Many companies needed people for unskilled or semi-skilled jobs. Britain advertised² particularly in the English – speaking islands of the Caribbean, for² people to come to Britain and work. Other people came from Pakistan, Bangladesh, India and Hong Kong.

4. The number of people asking to settle in Britain is rising, but Britain, since 1971, has reduced the number of people (coming from outside Europe) which it allows to stay. Many people in Britain, in spite of anti-racist laws, blame unemployment and poor housing³ on immigrants.

6. Прочитайте и устно переведите на русский язык 1-5 абзацы текста. Перепишите и письменно переведите их.

3. BRITISH HOMES

1. About 80 per cent of British people live in houses built close together. Detached houses are usually in expensive suburbs, quite far from the town centre. Terraced houses and blocks of flats are mostly found in town centers. They can either be very small two-storey houses with one or two bedrooms or large houses with three or five floors and four or five bedrooms.

2. About 67 per cent of people in Britain own their houses or flats. Most of the rest live in rented accommodation. People in Britain buy houses or flats because there is not enough rented accommodation and what there is can be expensive.

3. Council flats¹ and houses are built and owned by the local council. After the Second World War a lot of council flats, known as tower blocks, were constructed. Some were as high as 20 storeys and so badly built that they had to be pulled down only thirty years later.

4. Modern housing estates² are built differently now. There might be a mixture of two-storey terraced houses together with a four-storey block of flats. There are play areas for children and there is often a community centre³ where people who live on the estate can meet.

5. Since 1980's council tenants have been able⁴ to buy their own homes very cheaply if they have lived in them for over two years. By 1993, 1,5 million council houses had been sold, but only 5000 council houses or flats were built to replace them. This means that it is now very difficult to find cheap housing or rent.

6. Most British houses have a garden and many British people spend a lot of time in it. Most gardens, even small ones, have flowers and a lawn. If you don't have a garden, it is possible to grow flowers and vegetables on an allotment⁵ which is a piece of land rented from the local council.

4. LONDON

a) London is where the invading Romans first crossed the River Thames. They built a city a square mile in size, surrounded it with a wall and called it Londinium. This original site of London is now called the City of London¹ and is Britain's main financial centre.

b) The City is only a very small part of London. In the eleventh century London began to expand beyond the City walls when King Edward the Confessor² built a huge abbey at Westminster. Even today, Westminster Abbey and the Houses of Parliament, as well as the shops, cafes, theatres and cinemas of the West End, are in the City of Westminster and not in the City of London.

c) The saying – When a man is tired of London, he is tired of life! (Dr. Johnson) is a cliché, but you can't be bored³ in London. There are hundreds of historic buildings, galleries and museums. There are parks and street markets, over 80 theatres and even more cinemas.

d) If you want to discover London, it is best to start with a tour on a sightseeing bus. It is also fun to go on a guided walk. The walks last up to three hours.

e) The centre of London has many different areas. Each one has its own special character. Covent Garden⁴ in London West End, is crowded with cafes, clubs and clothes shops. Soho⁴ is also known for its clubs. Knightsbridge⁴ has a lot of exclusive and expensive shops, as well as many of the embassies. Fleet Street⁴ is the home of Law Courts. One part of the West End has so many Chinese shops and restaurants that is called Chinatown.

f) When you go outside the centre you find many areas which used to be small villages. The villages became part of the city when they expanded but they still managed to keep their village character. Hampstead⁴, the best known of the villages, is extremely expensive.

Customs and traditions

Every nation and every country has its own customs and traditions. In Britain traditions play a more important part in the life of the people than in other countries.

Englishmen are proud of their traditions and carefully keep them up. Foreigners coming to England are struck at once by quite a number of customs and peculiarities in English life. Some ceremonies are rather formal, such as the Changing of the Guard at Buckingham Palace, Trooping the Colour, the State opening of Parliament. Sometimes you will see a group of cavalymen riding on black horses through the streets of London. They wear red uniforms, shining helmets, long black boots and long white gloves. These men are Life Guards. Their special duty is to guard the queen or the king of Great Britain and very important guests of the country.

To this day an English Family prefers a house with a fireplace and a garden to a flat in a modern house with central heating. Most English love gardens. Sometimes the garden in front of the house is a little square covered with cement painted green in imitation of grass and a box of flowers. They love flowers very much.

Holidays are especially rich in old traditions and are different in Scotland, Ireland, Wales and England. Christmas is a great English national holiday and in Scotland it is not observed at all. But six days later, on New Year's Eve the Scots begin to enjoy themselves. All the shops and factories are closed on New Year's Day. People invite their friends to their houses. Greetings and presents are offered.

The Computer Revolution

Without the computer space programmes would be impossible and the 21st century would be impossible. The incredible technology we are building, the complexity and the knowledge we are amassing on the way toward the creation of that not-so-far-off 21st century, are all beyond the unaided mind and muscle of man. More than any other single invention, perhaps even more than wheel, the computer offers a promise so dazzling and a threat so awful that it will forever change the direction and meaning of our lives.

Computers today are running our factories, planning our cities, teaching our children, and forecasting the possible futures we may be hear to.

In the new age of exploration the computer is solving in milliseconds the problems a generation of mathematicians would need years to solve without its help. The small, fifty-nine-pound computer, which takes up only one cubic foot of space in the vehicle will do all of the mathematics needed to solve one billion different space-maneuvering, navigation, and re-entry problems. Moreover, it translates the answer into simple numbers and tells the astronaut the attitude to which he must bring the spacecraft before firing the thrusters, and indicate to him exactly how long they must be fired.

Good health

We are healthy when all parts of our bodies and of our minds work together properly. We cannot be happy unless we feel well.

The ancient Greeks knew that the value of good health. They even named one goddess Hygeia, which means goddess of health. Hygeia was the daughter of Asclepius, the god of medicine. The Greeks prayed to her to give them good health.

The Romans spoke of health in a proverb: A healthy mind in a healthy body. In addition to physical health, an understanding of mental health is also important. The body does a great deal to take care of itself, but by learning a few important health rules, it is possible to help the body to work at its best.

Many people will say: Good health means not being ill. That is true. But health is more than that. Good health is something positive. We have good health when our bodies and our minds are able to work at their best.

The human body is much more complicated than any machine. Yet it needs less day-to-day care than machine. No machine can do all the things the body can do. No machine will work for 70 years or more, day and night, requiring only air, water, food, and a few simple rules.

Sightseeing of London

London has many parks and gardens. The best known are Hyde Park, Regent's Park and St. James's Park. They are all within easy reach of the center of London.

Hyde Park is a royal park since 1536. It was once part of the forest where Henry VIII hunted wild animals. Hyde Park now has 146 hectares of parkland, and people are allowed to walk or sit and lie on the grass. The Serpentine is the lake in the middle of the park. In summer you can swim in the Serpentine or go out in a boat. It is a custom for some people to swim in it on Christmas Day. Hyde Park is famous for its Speaker's Corner, where people go when they want to tell other people about their political opinions.

Regent's Park is in the north-west of London. It is the home of the London Zoo. There are more than six thousand animals and birds in the Zoo. One can reach the Zoo by boat that goes along the Regent's canal. In summer one can visit an open-air theatre and enjoy a play by Shakespeare. There are also children's playgrounds and tennis courts.

St. James's Park is the oldest and the smallest of a royal parks. It is near Buckingham Palace. There is a lake in St. James's Park which is famous for its water-birds. The pelicans were originally given to Charles II by a Russian ambassador. Hundreds of people who work in the offices nearby come to this park to rest and eat their lunch.

Clothes

These days, most people in Britain and the USA do not wear very formal clothes. But sometimes it is important to wear the right thing.

Many British people don't think about clothes very much. They just like to be comfortable. When they go out to enjoy themselves, they can wear almost anything. At theatres, cinemas and concerts you can put on what you like - from elegant suits and dresses to jeans and sweaters. Anything goes, as long as you look clean and tidy.

But in Britain, as well as in the USA, men in offices usually wear suits and ties, and women wear dresses and skirts (not trousers). Doctors, lawyers and businessmen wear quite formal clothes. And in some hotels and restaurants men have to wear ties and women wear smart dresses. Jeans and open shirts are sometimes not allowed.

In many ways, Americans are more relaxed than British people, but they are more careful with their clothes. At home, or on holiday, most Americans wear informal or sport clothes. But when they go out in the evening, they like to look elegant. In good hotels and restaurants, men have to wear jackets and ties, and women wear pretty clothes and smart hairstyles.

It is difficult to say exactly what people wear in Britain and in the States, because everyone is different. If you are not sure what to wear, watch what other people do, and then do the same. Or ask the advice of a friend or your host. You'll feel more relaxed if you don't look too different from everyone else.

The weather forecast

And now here's the weather forecast for the next twenty-four hours the whole of England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland. Starting with Southern England and the Midlands, it'll be mainly dry and sunny, but quite cold, with temperatures around six or seven degrees Celsius. It should stay dry all day, but there'll be quite a wind, so wrap up warm.

And in the west country, Wales and Northern Ireland, you can expect -some rain in the morning and afternoon and quite strong north east rely winds, and the temperature will be lower than yesterday, around the three or four degrees mark. I don't think you'll see much of the sun: cloudy all day, I'm afraid. The east coast of England will see the best of today's weather. It'll be warmer than yesterday, no winds, and sunshine, so quite warm for the time of year.

In Scotland and Northern Ireland, however, there'll be heavy rain and may be some snow during the afternoon, and on the hills temperatures will drop to below freezing, minus four or five, and on the highest spots minus ten. Over much of Scotland it will be cloudy, and windy too as the cold front moves in over the Atlantic. Northern Ireland can expect the same, but the rain will end before dark. But again very cold, with temperatures not going above freezing.

London

One-seventh of the population of the United Kingdom are Londoners. Over 8 million people live in Greater London. It includes the suburbs of the city all of which are connected with the center of London and with each other by underground railway lines.

London dominates British life. It is the home of the nation's commerce and finance, the main center of its legal system and press. It has the largest university and the greatest possibilities for entertainment and for sport in the country, London is one of the most famous capital cities of the world, and every year attracts crowds of visitors from home and abroad. They come to explore its historic buildings, to see its museums and galleries, streets, parks and its people.

The build up area of the Greater London stretches for 50 kilometers from east to west. Many of its districts are linked with particular activities. For example, parliamentary and government activities center in Parliamentary Square of Westminster and Whitehall. Just as "Westminster" stands for Parliament, "Whitehall" is often used as the name for central government.

Just as Westminster is the center of government, so the City of London is the center of finance. In Threadneedle Street is the Bank of England - sometimes called "The Old Lady Threadneedle Street", the central banking institution whose pound notes are the main currency in the country.

Letter writing

Letter writing is an important part of world business. Though nowadays the increasing use of the telephone, telegraph, telex and telefax is reducing correspondence, it still retains its importance, since all that has been agreed upon by other means has to be confirmed in writing.

Studies show that people who write well are more likely to have successful careers. Skill in writing business and personal letters can make a difference in your life. For example, a well-writing letter applying for a job may lead to a fine position. A good personal letter can help build or keep a valuable friendship.

The style of an English business letter should be natural. An English business letter is usually more informal than business letters written in most other languages. Write as you would talk. Forget the typewriter or computer between, you and the person you are writing to. Remember, however, that Russian phrases should not be translated into English literally. It will be useful to learn the English phrases in general use in business correspondence.

There are many kinds of business letters: letters of invitations; letters of application (written by people seeking a job); sales letters (they are intended to convince the reader to buy something); complaint letters (they are written to call attention to a problem and to persuade the reader to take corrective action); collecting letters (firms write collection letters to get money from customers who have fallen behind in paying their bills), etc. However, the same principles of good writing apply to each kind.

Disney

They say, Disney seldom praised anybody and he didn't like to show his feelings and emotions. But once when he saw a few episodes from Bambi and timed to the animators there were tears in his eyes. This was how Disney approved of their work. But it happened only twice in thirty-nine years.

Disney respected people who could make something with their hands. He especially respected the carpenter working in the studio. Although everyone called Disney Walt and he called everybody by their first name, the carpenter was an exception to the rule. Disney always called him Mr. Rogers.

When Walt Disney was making a film, he always thought not only about children but also about grown-ups. That's why he tried to touch upon the subjects of nature and life, he wanted to make people think about life, love, justice, about good and evil powers. There were episodes in Disney's films that did not leave a dry eye in the cinema. At the same time all Disney's films are full of optimism and have a happy ending. A great number of people were brought up on Walt Disney's films and they are grateful to him for these unforgettable moments in their childhood.

It may seem strange that after the success in animation, Disney directed his energies to a new field - constructing Disneyland. Everybody thought that it was impossible to realize this idea but Disney saw it as continuation of what he had been doing all his life.

Text

In the year 1564 in Stratford-on-Avon, in Warwickshire, there was a quiet little village that differed in no way from hundreds of others scattered over England at that time. In these little villages the houses were built commonly of wood, with the upper storeys overhanging the lower, and with windows of lattice-work or horn, as glass was then seldom used except in the houses of the wealthy. Sometimes the villages consisted of one long straggling street which began in the open country and ended perhaps in a moor or bog. But more often the houses were built around a large green, in the center of which were the maypole and common well. There the villagers came in the evening to chat and gossip, and on holidays they made merry with dancing and feasting, and the Robin Hood games which were then so popular. Each cottage had its garden where in grew rosemary and fennel and all kinds of herbs, in closest neighbourhood to the roses and daffodils and violets which were the pride of the cottages. In the fields beyond, the paths led through scarlet poppies and golden primroses to the great forests, which were then found all over England.

In one of these cottages, which was richer than many of its neighbours two storeys instead of one, and which had, furthermore, some dormer windows in its roof, was born, in 1564, a boy.

Text

Everybody in the world is seeking happiness - and there is one sure way to find it. That is by controlling your thoughts. Happiness doesn't depend on outward conditions. It depends on inner conditions.

It isn't what you have or who you are or where you are or what you are doing that makes you happy or unhappy. It is what you think about it. For example, two people may be in the same place, doing the same things; both may have about an equal amount of money and prestige - and yet one may be miserable and the other happy. Why? Because of a different mental attitude.

«Nothing is good or bad,» said Shakespeare, «but thinking makes it so.»

Abraham Lincoln once remarked that «most folks are about as happy as they make up their minds to be.» He was right.

Whenever you go out of doors, draw the chin in, carry the crown of the head high, and fill the lungs to the utmost; drink in the sunshine; greet your friends with a smile, and put soul into every handclasp. Do not fear being misunderstood and do not waste a minute thinking about your enemies. Try to fix firmly in your mind what you would like to do; and then, without veering the direction, you will move straight to the goal. Keep your mind on the great and splendid things you would like to do, and then, as the days go gliding by, you will find yourself unconsciously seizing upon the opportunities that are required for the fulfillment of your desire. To think rightly is to create.

English food

I am always both amused and annoyed when I hear foreign people criticize English food. "It's boring, it's tasteless, it's chips with everything and totally overcooked vegetables."

When I asked these visitors where they have experienced English cooking, I am astonished by their reply. "In Wimpy Bars and McDonalds hamburger restaurants," they often say. I have won my case. Their conclusions are inexcusable.

English basic ingredients, when fresh, are so full of flavour that they haven't need of any sauces and complex recipes to disguise their natural taste. What can compare with fresh peas or new potatoes just boiled (not overboiled) and served with butter? Why drown spring lamb in wine or cream or yoghurt and spices, when with just one or two herbs it is absolutely delicious?

It is interesting to speculate what factors such as geography and climate play part in the creation of a country's food. We complain about wet and changeable weather, but it is the rain which gives us our rich soil and green grass. Poor soils meant more searching for food, more discovery, more invention, whereas English ancestors sat down to plenty without having to take trouble.

If you ask foreigners to name some typically English dishes, they will probably say "Fish and chips" and then stop. It is disappointing, but true, that there is no tradition in England of eating in restaurants, because our food doesn't lend itself to such preparation. English cooking is found in the home, where it is possible to time the dishes to perfection.

Musical comedies

Musical comedies, or musicals, have become America's most significant contribution to world theatre. Musical comedy is a type of play that tells a story through a combination of dialogue, songs and dances.

Musical comedy developed in the United States during the late 1800's. It shared roots with both European and American popular forms of entertainment. European influences included the operetta, or light opera, and extravaganza, or spectacle. The basic American influences were vaudeville, minstrel show.

Musical comedy differs from other forms of musical shows. It has a simple but distinctive plot which unifies all of its other elements: the book, or the libretto, the music, the lyrics and the dancing.

«The Black Crook», produced in New-York in 1866, marked the beginning of American musical comedy. The real maturity came to American musicals during World War I and the years immediately afterwards.

Most major American musical comedies that have enchanted audiences throughout the world were first presented in New York City, normally on Broadway. One of the longest-running show in Broadway history drew Broadway audiences for more than eight years.

Universities in England

In the early nineteenth century Oxford and Cambridge were the only two universities in England. The cost of education in these universities was so high that only the sons of the wealthier classes could afford to attend. But more restrictive still were the religious tests: only Church of England members could attend. It was to overcome these limitations that in 1827, in Gower Street, London, a non-denominational college, -"University College" was founded. Its first years were years of struggle for survival against hostile forces of the Church and State. The "godless" college was opposed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Sir Robert Peel and the Prime Minister, the Duke of Wellington, who in 1831 opened a rival institution - King's College.

In 1836 these two institutions, University College and King's through a typically English compromise joined forces. Each retained the control of its own internal organization, faculty and teaching; a separate body, the University of London, was created to "conduct the examination of, and to confer degrees upon their students". Thus was born the University of London.

Today the University has much the same form of organization adapted to accommodate its increased size and complexity.

English villages

Old English villages are pretty with their picturesque cottages. English villages are not all alike, but in some ways they are not very different from each other. The village green is a wide stretch of grass, often with a road along each side of it. The houses or cottages are built round the green with the road in front of them near their garden gates. On the green there is usually a pump or a well from which the villages can draw water. At present day many villages have water brought in pipes into each home.

English cottages are pretty. English people are fond of gardening. They do their best to make their gardens look lovely.

There are few shops in a village. There may be only one shop. It is a "general store" and sells almost everything that people need in their homes. The shopkeeper is often a postmaster as well, and he sends telegrams and sells stamps.

Fortunately most villages are not far away from some small towns. So people can go there to buy what they cannot find in the village shop.

The village school is for all the children of the village. Often there is only one schoolmaster or schoolmistress, who has to teach all the subjects.

Most of the men of the village are farmers. But there may be a shoemaker, a baker, an innkeeper, and perhaps a doctor and a policeman.

Village life has changed very much. What remains unchanged, fortunately, is the natural beauty of the country - the hills, the trees, the fields, the woods, the flowers.

Christmas

Christmas is a holiday that appeals to the child in all of us, and it has always been the most exciting time of the year for me. When I was young, birthdays were nothing compared to it, for Christmas has three marvellous aspects - both the giving and receiving of presents, making beautiful decorations and preparing the most wonderful food.

One of the delights of the holidays is making all of the food. The traditional Christmas pudding with its breathtaking aromas of dried fruits and brandy, the after dinner chocolate. The central decoration for Christmas must be tree. Prince Albert introduced the custom to England by bringing cut conifers from Germany in the nineteenth century. These were the trees that drop their needles within a few days of being cut. Despite this, I am still very fond of them: their aromatic scents always transport me back to my childhood and to the wild hope that there might be snow outside on Christmas Day. Christmas tree production is today a booming business, and there are varieties of trees that hold their needles for quite a long period of time. But I personally still decorate the tree and put up the decorations just three or four days before Christmas.

When we were children, Christmas Eve was devoted to the purpose of wrapping presents. We were so excited, it seems that we hardly slept at all that night. Dressed in his red suit, Father Christmas duly appeared in the morning to wake us up. Then there was the feverish opening of presents in the stockings at the end of our beds. But the presents under the tree could only be opened after Christmas cake had been cut at tea time. In my teens it was the real high point of Christmas holiday.

William Hogarth

William Hogarth (1697 - 1764) was born in London. His father was a schoolmaster. From childhood, Hogarth showed a talent for drawing. He was apprenticed to a silverplate engraver until 1720 when he went into his own business as an engraver. He also studied painting at the art school of Sir James Thornhill, and in 1729 he married Thornhill's daughter.

Hogarth's earliest completed series of six paintings for which he first became famous was The Harlot's progress, completed in 1731. This has followed by two other series, A Rake's Progress, eight paintings, and Marriage a la Mode, six paintings. He made engravings of all these.

In all his paintings Hogarth tried to do the same things. He wanted his paintings to be like a play. Instead of actors on a stage speaking parts, he wanted his paintings to be his stage and the men and women he drew to be his actors and to tell a story. He tried to have them tell their story by certain actions and movements. Although he is often humorous in the way in which he drew things, he never softened or made his objects pleasant if they were not so.

New-York

New-York is known as a "melting-pot", because people of different races and nationalities make up its population of more than 7 million. About 13 of every 100 people in New-York were born in another country. More than 80 languages are spoken throughout the neighbourhoods and streets of the city. There are places where the English language is hardly ever heard.

You can cross continents within the city. If you wish to go from China to Italy, you only have to cross Canal Street. It is also just as easy to go from Puerto Rico to Israel. There are more Irish and Italians in New York City than in any other city outside Ireland and Italy. More than 80000 Chinese-Americans live in Chinatown in Manhattan. Chinatown looks more like Hong Kong than New York. There is a district in Brighton Beach - renamed Little Odessa by its Russia residents - where you forget that you are in New-York. You could be on the Black Sea coast. Harlem is often called the black capital of the country.

Signs of immigrations from all over the world can still be found in the names of streets and buildings. New-York smells the whole world kitchen. Italian, Greek, Chinese, Korean, Russian, Mexican, Spanish, African cuisines are in the fierce culinary competition.

There is always something to celebrate in New-York: the Chinese New Year in January, with its wonderful fireworks and dragon parade; San Gennaro's Day in September, when the whole of Little Italy is out in the streets dancing; Easter Parade on Fifth Avenue; the New Year's Eve celebrations in Times Square; Harlem day in August... Sometimes celebrations in small quarters are more interesting than the big Fifth Avenue parades because they offer a variety of music, food and drink and the chance to meet people.

Vincent Van Gogh

Nobody has ever paint corn-fields or sunflowers like Van Gogh. His paintings are full of colour and sunlight. Today his painting are worth millions of pounds but in his lifetime he sold only one.

Van Gogh was born in Holland in 1853. He did not start painting until he was twenty-seven, ten years before he died. Before becoming a painter, he was a teacher, an art dealer and a church preacher.

In 1886 he left Holland and joined his younger brother, Theo, who was working in Paris at that time. After living there for two years, he moved to the warmer climate of Arles in the south of France. Here he painted some of his famous pictures.

However, Van Gogh was mentally ill. During one of his fits of madness he attacked his friend, the artist Paul Gauguin. In another fit of madness, Van Gogh cut off part of his own ear. Eventually he went to a mental hospital but he did not get any better.

Finally, on Sunday 27th July 1890, in the small village of Auvers, north of Paris, Van Gogh took a gun, went into a corn-field and shot himself. When his brother Theo arrived, he said: «I hope I did it properly.» Thirty-six hours later Van Gogh died in his brother's arms. His last words were «La tristesse durera.» (The sadness will continue)
